

How to Invite New Users As a distributor, you can invite new users to help manage your account on KUJA. Go to the Settings Module. Click Invite New User. Enter their email address. You can also add another email address if needed. Click Select Permission. Here you will see all the permissions you can assign to the user. Click on the drop down to see what the user can access. Select any permission you want to assign to the user. Then click Set Permission. Go ahead and click Send Invitation. Confirm by selecting Yes, Invite. A mail will be sent to the user with their invitation details. This process ensures you can safely add new team members, control their access, and manage your account effectively.
